The coast guard and customs service in enforcing the liquor laws. This will bring the total cost of federal prohibition enforcement activities—exclusive of the coast guard, customs service, department of justice and federal court expenditures, to well above $75,000,000 since 1920.

Vote to Fight It on Floor.

Representatives Gallivan (Dem., Mass.), Cullen (Dem., N. Y.), and Griffin (Dem., N. Y.), members of the House of Representatives, voted to support the proposed $100,000 adjustment for prohibition enforcement, and Representatives Tinkham (Rep., Mass.) and Vare (Rep., Pa.), the latter senator-elect, reserved the right to attack the item on the floor of the house.

Changing tactics somewhat to avoid a recurrence of the storm which greeted a request last year for an appropriation to "purchase evidence," Gen. Andrews, in the present bill, asks the creation of a fund to be "available for advances to be made by special agents in the investigation of cases." The same in spite of the changed name, Mr. Andrews admitted to the committee, and when questioned by Representative Gallivan he defended the practice on the ground that "it takes a thief to catch a thief."

Explains Under-Cover Work.

While it is proposed to use many of the undercover agents or spies in investigating for the revenue commissioners, it was also admitted by Mr. Andrews that in his recent conference with district administrators, he urged them to build up individual corps of paid tipsters.

"I make a contract with a man to go and get the evidence," he explained. "I have a man who has been caught either by the day or so much in a lump sum, and he gets and gets it, and nobody knows that he is working for me. That is what I mean by undercover work."

Says He Deals with Murder Gangs. "I may take a man of Atlanta up there in fact, I have done it, and have him give him $100 and start him out to get some clothes and go and get this evidence. He would be killed if anybody knew he was working for the government. He is to kill him, kill him as a spy. People have guns in their employ. They do not hesitate to commit murder. That is nothing in either Chicago or New York, with those gangs."

"In addition to breaking up smuggling in this way, as a result of our experience at the recent conference I had with all my administrators I convinced them that they likewise should have one, two, or three investigators in their districts to make these gang conspiracy cases against the organized crime."

One Convict at a Time. Instead of taking one man out of Atlanta and buying clothes for him, if you had $500,000 you would take a dozen, would you? Instead, Representative Gallivan, who has been a close friend of the former kaiser, begged the Mayflower hotel in which Agent Birgfeld, masquerading as Representative Burton (D.) spent more than $1,000 to trap two walters.

"O, no," responded Andrews, "we do not type the man. We do not say when you get a particular case, where the man, we will say, has been part of it, and has been convicted, maybe, on some other offense."

Mr. Andrews admitted that he had changed his mind about discharging Agent Birgfeld, permitting him to go to Chicago, where he wonned his way into a membership in the Fins' Fans' club to stage a raid on fellow members' lockers. Birgfeld, who, according to Andrews, acted in both cases under the orders of E. C. Yelbowley, former acting prohibition director, and now Chicago district administrator, is at present employed in the Alaska district.

Mr. Andrews denied that Roy O. Haynes, former prohibition commis-

Church Council Urges Congress to Tighten Prohibition Laws

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON, [Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Dec. 8.—(Special)—Religious leaders urge the passage of laws for strict enforcement of the禁酒令. The proposed $100,000 adjustment for prohibition enforcement, and Representatives Tinkham (Rep., Mass.) and Vare (Rep., Pa.), the latter senator-elect, reserved the right to attack the item on the floor of the house.

After quoting President Coolidge's reference to prohibition in his message to Congress, the resolution states that the congress pass the pending dry law legislation and declare that congressmen who fail to support these laws "merit the condemnation and contempt of all who believe it is the duty of congress to support the constitution."

Discussion of the day centered on operation among the various denominations.

Walter R. Mee, executive secretary of the Chicago Church federation, described the action taken by Bishop James Cannon of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and seconded by Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Detroit, president of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

It is known there is some difference of opinion as to the subject of prohibition, and each side believes it should confine itself to education against liquor rather than legislation, and there is certain to be a lively discussion from the floor. However, it was generally predicted the resolutions would be passed.

compliance with all its provisions should be provided. The constitutional duties of the President and the Congress make any other course indefensible.

While Volsteadism Gets.

For prohibition enforcement ashore, the President proposed an expenditure of $13,125,405, compared with $12,752,900 last year; and for prohibition enforcement afloat, he proposes approximately $17,000,000, compared with $14,300,000 last year.

While the cost of national defense is being curtailed the cost of prohibition enforcement is going up. On the army and navy in 1923 the President proposed more than $7,000,000 less than in the 1922 fiscal year, while prohibition enforcement is to cost $30,000,000, which is an increase of about $3,000,000 over the current cost of Volsteadism.

Navy Loses; Coast Guard Grows.

While the navy has 309 ships in commission, but will be compelled to place some of them in reserve by the court of naval expenditures for 1924, the coast guard fleet now numbers 297 vessels and is to be further increased by the completion of ships now building.

While the ships of the navy are only from 75 to 90 per cent manned account of the reduction in enlisted personnel forced by Coolidge economy, while the naval fleet is deteriorating for lack of men, the coast guard fleet is to be further increased until a few days ago.

The new sheriff, accompanied by State's Attorney Arlie Biswell and his deputies, has started liquor raiding. Although several places have been visited, only one was found to have liquor.

"No, I should be astonished to be told that he was," declared Andrews.

That was the only surprise Mr. Andrews experienced. He found that the work is his only interest in life, so far as I know," he said.

"Do you know?" demanded Mr. Gallivan, "that he is in the office of William B. Hibbs (a local stock broker) every morning when the stock market opens?"

GERMAN DISARMAMENT
overwhelmed the German disarma- ment before the League of Nations council today when China virtually withdrew from the League. Under pressure from Shih Ting, representing the Canton Nationalist government, Chao Hua, ambassador from the Peking government in the commission to take no active part in the proceedings and to undertake no commitments regarding China merely remaining an unofficial observer.

The Kuomintang government at Canton does not recognize the League and does not consider that the real China is a member of the League," said Shih. "China will not join the League after the present civil war is ended unless the powers recognize her complete independence and equality with us." This statement, obviously, refers to the Cantonese government, as the Peking government is already a member of the League.

The Peking government is merely a camouflage for the Japanese interests which are backing Gen. Chang Tso Lin's army and do not represent China."

Ready to Cast Lot With Russia.

Shih Ting, Chinese minister to join the Far-Eastern League Russia is organizing, which entered a decisive phase when Foreign Ministers Chichirin of Russia and Roudchy Bey of Turkey met in Odessa a month ago and reached an accord.

"The organization of an oriental league is necessary for us to protect ourselves against the western powers," said Shih. "Negotiations are going on between Russia, China, Turkey, Persia, and Afghanistan, which eventually will be consummated, but not directed against the Geneva League, being mainly a measure safeguarding our mutual interests."

China said China intends to abrogate all unilateral treaties existing with the powers and assume real autonomy.

To Cooperate with U. S.

"We like the United States and want to cooperate with America, but we resent the fact that Washington declined to denounce the treaty willingly in accordance with liberty, justice and equality," he said.

This would not do, says Russia is supplying Canton army with munitions, however, remarkably.

"It is natural that a country which has shown itself most friendly toward us should give tangible proofs of its friendship by aiding us."

League officials are alarmed over the loss of China following Spain's and Brazil's walking out, especially as the Madero's actions exert powerful influence among Mohammedans everywhere.

The league secretariat, on instructions from the big powers, is handling the Canton representatives with velvet gloves, placing a room in the league building at their disposal, as though they were a regular official delegation.

END ARMS CONTROL

The German disarmament problem was solved tonight. The allied and German delegates reached a compromise agreement after several confidential conversations today, chiefly in Foreign Minister Stremann's bedroom, as he is suffering from grippe.

Here Stremann received Sir Austin Chamberlain and Aristide Briand in a formal dressing gown over silk pajamas and slippers.

The settlement eliminates one of the greatest problems in the Franco-German relations, leaving open only one major question—that of the military occupation of the Rhineland. Evacuation of the Rhine bridgeheads and clearing German soil of all foreign troops are envisaged in the second year of the new international control problem, which will be examined by a conference of the Locarno powers some time before March 1.

The new accord provides that the interallied military control commission, with headquarters in Berlin since the armistice, will leave Germany and disband by Jan. 15 or 30. Supervision of German's secret service will be placed in charge of a league commission, as provided by the covenant. This commission, when authorized by special action of the league counsel, will investigate and complaints of secret arming by Germany which any league member may make.

Practically, however, the agreement means almost complete cessation of hostile acts.

DENBY FRANKLY ADMITS ONUS FOR NAVY OIL LEASES

Lacked Familiarity with Facts, Testimony Shows.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Edwin Denby, former secretary of the navy, who was forced to resign as a result of the oil scandals of two years ago, took the witness stand in the Fall-Doheny conspiracy case today and accepted full responsibility for the change in policy which gave the navy oil reserves in 1921 to private interests and for the Doheny company contracts until the Fall-Doheny fund reserve was built.

This much was received gratefully in the defense camp, for it appeared to absolve former Secretary of the Interior Fall from any direct activity in instituting this policy in the move to get the late Admiral Harding to turn over control of the navy's lands to the interior department in the beginning of the alleged conspiracy. Denby said this was his idea and he and Fall went to the President about it, and the order was drafted by Fall.

Jumbled in Cross-Examination.

Smiling genially, his big voice rumbling through the courtroom, the popular ex-navy chief got along nicely with the questioning of the defense attorneys, but when it came to cross-examination, he was soon stumbling and confused, contradicting his own former testimony before the senate committee and in conflict with the testimony of Admiral John K. Robison, retired, who was Denby's agent in the fall of 1921. Denby had his jaw set and became stubborn, maintaining to the last that he had acted in the country's interest in protecting the Pacific and in doing what he thought best to save the oil that was being drained away. But he left behind the plain statement that he did not know what was being done in his own department, under his own nose.

Denby Gives His Story.

Soon after he was appointed head of the navy department some one unnamed began to fill him with fear that the California reserves were being slowly drained away. He was worried and took the matter up with Fall, called in Senator Robert M. La Follette, and finally went to the President and got him to sign the famous executive order of May 31, 1921, transferring control of these lands to the interior department. Denby said he thought they had the right machinery to handle this situation while the navy did not.

Quickly, on top of this, came the plan to outwit Congress and exchange crude oil from the navy fields for tanks and stored oil in Hawaii. Denby wrote "do this" on such a proposal that came to him by way of Admiral Robison. Admiral Robison was ordered to expedite this work and get contracts. Denby was not asked about the war scare" of that period.

Cross-Examined.

Attorney Owen J. Roberts then began on Denby.

"When did you find out that you executed these contracts?" he snapped.

"On the day I executed them," said the former naval officer.

His Senate testimony was then read in which he had not remembered how many contracts he had made or how much of the 3,000 acre reserves had been leased.

How much was leased, anyway?"

Denby: "In my sense, all of it."

"When did you discover this?"

"When it was negotiated."

"Then forgot it?"

"Certainly."

He said he had recently gone over the records and at the time of his Senate appearance he had just come from hospital and had no warning as to what to expect.

"Did you read the contract with care?" asked the examiner.

"Yes."

"Did you notice that it gave the secretary of the interior alone the

MRS. GEORGE BRENNAN IS SHAKEN UP WHEN AUTO, TRUCK COLLIDE

Mrs. George Brennan, 3150 Sheridan road, wife of the Democratic chieftain, last night when the automobile in which she and a woman friend were riding was struck by a truck at 11th and Michigan avenues, two city streets. The Brennan car, driven by Harry Gottman, a chauffeur, was damaged by a truck driven by Al Lindner, 31 years old, 3254 West Harrison street. Lindner was arrested and charged with recklessness.

Charles Johnson, 35 years old, 2046 Burnham avenue, died of a skull fracture received Monday when he was knocked down by an automobile driven by John Salakar, 6255 Avenue L. The death raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to $22.

Four persons were injured, two of them seriously, in a collision in which the automobile in which they were riding was struck and overturned by another car at Wood street and North avenue.

Those hurt are Frank Rammel, 37 years old, postal clerk, 6252 Agathe avenue; Charles Heuer, Mrs. Estelle Rammel, 38 years old, his wife, cut and bruised and possible skull fracture; Mrs. Mary Olenczak, 60 years old, 5142 Culver avenue, injured internally, and Mrs. Little Hirschkiwitz, 32 years old, 5315 Newport avenue, cut wrists and right leg.

George Johnson, 31 years old, 1230 Lawrence street, one of the other cars, was shaken up but suffered no injuries. He is being held.

Right to fix the terms of the leases?

He was given the contract to read and admitted there was such a clause.

"You first realized that today?"

"Yes, I suppose so."

Denby said his original reason for change of policy was to save the oil and later he went into the oil tank proposition. The vital strategic need of oil "was for us governed him then, he said.

Made Few Inquiries.

"Did you ever ask what the profits were worth?"

"No."

"Ever inquire as to terms?"

"No."

"Did you have a technical man to advise you?"

"We were using the interior department."

"Did you ask a report from them?"

"No."

"Did you know the royalties were fixed at a conference between Fall and Doheny?"

"No."

"Did you suggest competitive bidding?"

"No."

"Did you know the oil contents of the reserve?"

"I don't recall."

"You did not ask any one?"

"No."

"What had you in mind when you said there was dynamite in this lease?"

"What happened to me is sufficient answer."

"Still you did not do these things as you had testified."

"I carried the responsibility and made the lease."

He gave the impression that he would do it all over again if in a similar position.

Several character witnesses for Doheny were put on the stand. One testified that Doheny was president of the Practical Patriots league of Los Angeles, which furnished money to families of men who wanted to enlist and could not afford it.

CHICHERIN SAYS BRITAIN PERILS EUROPE'S PEACE

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—Georges Chicherin, Soviet Russian commissar of foreign affairs, made statements in Berlin this afternoon that are not calculated to improve the stormy weather at Geneva.

Commissioner Chicherin's III health appears to be one of his best political weapons, and certainly his statements always require treatment at some convenient spot. As the council of the League of Nations went into session at Geneva he required the Berlin air. But he was not too weak to deliver broadsides at England which amounted to a declaration of diplomatic warfare.

Using an article in the Particular Review as a text, he said: "It is inspired by the British government to accuse Great Britain of disinterested dealing and at the same time outlined the Soviet foreign policy in clear terms. He asserted Great Britain fights Russia through all the channels of diplomacy and military force."

"If the policy is well received on the continent it will mean the greatest danger to further peaceful development," he stated. The characteristics of this policy, he said, were attempts to prevent small western neighbors from concluding pacts with Russia. Mr. Chicherin added that sooner or later these pacts will be communicated on Russian terms because they are more to the interest of the small nations than to Russia. He quoted the treaty with Lithuania as an example.

The commissar emphasized Russia's desire to live in peace with Poland, but the attempts to reach an agreement have been difficult, and he hinted strongly at outside influences.

one-half of the present value of the Chicago Surface Lines as reported by the board of supervising engineers.

The surface lines' valuation is about $184,000,000, so the Motor Coach company says its investment "would be less than $82,000,000. Arguing this point the letter states:

"The bus system of Chicago could not carry passengers at present cost except for the large standing loads." Cities London System.

Mr. Ritchie, who signs the letter, anticipates that some persons will question the ability of buses to transport the people of Chicago daily to and from work. On this point the letter says:

"The motor coach has already demonstrated in actual service in London its ability to handle large masses of people, notwithstanding that the type of motor coach used is less in carrying capacity than the type we propose to use."

"In London in 1925, an average number of 5,400 passengers per day, an average seating capacity of 47 persons, or more than were carried by any other vehicle in that city; more than were carried by all street cars and motor coach systems of Chicago; more than were carried by the entire Interborough Rapid Transit company system, and electric railroads in New York City, and more than twice as many as were carried by all the steam railroads of the United States together, as reported by the Interstate commerce commission. This is mass transportation."

Legal Question Involved.

The Chicago Motor Coach company has been fighting the use of the city for several years to restrict its use of the streets and by injunction has restrained the city for two years from installing a complete system on the basis of a twenty year franchise."

Comfort Is Emphasized.

Much emphasis is placed in the letter upon the efficiency and flexibility of buses, "the safe, smooth, comfortable, and healthful transportation" they provide, the removal of trolley poles, overhead wires and tracks from the streets, the "quieter operation" of buses, the reduction of accidents, the elimination of bus stops, the rerouting around fires and other accidents which block street cars. The letter also points out that buses would make more efficient feeders for a rapid transit system than surface cars.

One of the assertions in the letter which is considered highly important, reads:

"The surface lines of Chicago could not carry passengers at present cost except for the large standing loads."

Cities London System.

Legal Question Involved.

The Chicago Motor Coach company has been fighting the use of the city for several years to restrict its use of the streets and by injunction has restrained the city for two years from interfering with bus operation. That legal question is now pending in the state Supreme court. On that subject Ritchie yesterday said:

"Notwithstanding the case now pending in the Supreme court of Illinois between the city and our company, involving certain legal questions, we are in mind the intention of the city of Chicago of an early settlement of its surface transportation problem, an agreement can be entered into between us which will bring about a prompt solution of the problem. This agreement would be binding on the city and our company no matter which side is successful in the pending litigation."

ONLY POLITE TO COP, SAYS WIFE OF SALOON MAN

Tells Crowe's Aid How Mate Was Beaten.

Should a saloonkeeper's wife accept the attentions of a customer, and particularly if the customer is the local police captain?

And if the saloonkeeper's wife does accept the attentions of the police captain and his husband objects and the police captain beats and shoots the husband, with whom should the saloonkeeper's wife side?

Mrs. Anna Renner explained yesterday to Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller that those were her problems. Prosecutor Mueller was trying to determine if Capt. Woods, of Avery Woods of Summit, Ill., should be indicted for assault with intent to kill. Capt. Renner, proprietor of the Curve Inn, which is across the street from the Summit police station.

Renner still is in hospital.

Renner was in the Archer hospital with twenty-nine stitches in his head, which he received when he was shot by Capt. Woods and the captain's son, Henry Woods. His story was that he was shot and when he objected to Capt. Woods kissing Mrs. Renner.

"My husband says he never wants to see me again," Mrs. Renner told Prosecutor Mueller. "But Capt. Woods didn't kiss me. It might have looked as if he was kissing me when he was holding over me while we were dancing."

"Then Capt. Woods and his son, Henry, came in and they asked Billy and me to sit down and drink with them. Once my husband came and took a glass of pop out of my hands and I knew he was furious, but what could I do? I had to be nice to Capt. Woods."

Says Woods Beat Renner.

"Finally my husband and I sat upstairs and I was in the room with our two little children when I heard a shot. I can downstairs and saw my husband on the floor and Henry Woods beating him continuously on the head with a blackjack. Joe had blood all over him and his shotgun was on the floor beside him."

"Joe took Joe across to the station and I went over there and asked why they didn't do something for him. They said they had sent for a doctor. Then I told Joe he must have done something wrong or Capt. Woods and Henry wouldn't have hurt him. Then when I went to the hospital to see Joe he told me he never wanted to see me again."

E. H. Wilson, president of the village board of Summit, who suspended Capt. Woods pending a further investigation, also was summoned to the state's attorney's office. When he interviewed Renner in the hospital and Renner told him he was beaten and shot because he objected to Capt. Woods' kissing Mrs. Renner.

"He wouldn't tell me any of the details," President Wilson said. "He said he didn't want to prosecute Woods."

shooting was that his son Henry went into the rear part of the saloon to buy cigarettes from Renner and that Renner fired a shotgun at Henry. Capt. Woods then shot Renner, he told Wilson, and father and son beat him only to subdue him.

Chief of Police Andrew Botz of Summit also was questioned by Prosecutor Mueller, who said he would postpone the investigation until Renner is able to come back to the station.

Thieves yesterday afternoon stole a Lyon & Healy truck loaded with merchandise valued at $3,000, drove to Woods and Congress streets, transferred the goods to another truck, and abandoned the stolen machine.

A coroner's jury inquiring yesterday into the death Tuesday of Mrs. Margaret Cregier West, 24 years old, first cousin of Martin J. Durkin, charged Howard West, 27 years old, now a fugitive, with the murder of his wife.

Deputy Coroner Louis Winetroub, in charge of the investigation, at Fern's morgue, 428 West 75th street, questioned the two eyewitnesses to the murder, Mrs. Catherine Behrens, an aunt of the dead woman, and Mrs. Harriet Galow, a sister of Mrs. West.

Capt. Oscar Hanson, West's sister; Capt. Joseph Johnson of the Gresham police station, and others testified.

Says Woods Beat Renner.

"Finally my husband and I sat upstairs and I was in the room with our two little children when I heard a shot. I can downstairs and saw my husband on the floor and Henry Woods beating him continuously on the head with a blackjack. Joe had blood all over him and his shotgun was on the floor beside him."

CLEWS IN SOUTH TO OLSON FAIL TO LOCATE HIM

Lawyer Who Telephoned for Money Released.

BULLETIN.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., Dec. 9.—(Special to the Tribune)—It was learned early this morning that later in the day he will bring Edward Kinsler, the youthful hired hand of the Albert Olson farm, into this city for questioning concerning the murder of Clara Olson. Knudsen had but recently come to the Olson farm. On the night of the murder Erdman Olson sought for the criminal and found him in a dance in company with a stranger, not more than a half hour before the murder is supposed to have been committed. The stranger wore glasses and a gray suit. Knudsen also wears glasses and a suit of the same description.

Charleston, S. C., Dec. 8.—(AP)—The investigation of the sending of a telegram from this city to Marvin Helgerson, chum of Erdman Olson, sought for the slaying in Wisconsin of his sweetheart, Clara Olson, centered in a city-wide search tonight by a man whom the authorities said was named Patrick S. Denning, traveling in a roadster bearing an Alabama license.

The search shifted to Denning when J. H. Bowman, the attorney who signed the telegram, declared that he had for Denning in sending the wire Denning, he said, arrived here yesterday evening upon a promise that he would report to police daily.

Doesn't Know Olson.

Bowman denied that he knows Olson and disclaimed any knowledge of whereabout. Local investigators do not believe that Olson is here.

Bowman described Denning as an ex-sailor and globe trotter and a prize fighter who fights under the name of "Kid" Carter. He said he did not know if Helgerson was when he was "discovered" to learn later he was a chum of Olson. Denning told him, Bowman claimed, that Helgerson was his friend.

Bowman admitted, the investigators said, that he sent two telegrams to Helgerson last night, one to Prairie du Chien, Wis., and the other to Mount Sterling, in the same state. Their wording was identical and asked Helgerson to send $1,000.

Families Will Spend All.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., Dec. 8.—(Special)—As the Olson murder case settles down to a search for Erdman Olson, the two Olson families are each determined to spend their entire fortune, if necessary, to obtain what each considers justice.

Christ Olson, father of Clara, his wife, three sons, and five remaining daughters made it known today that they will give their all to bring Erdman back to stand trial for murder. Albert Olson and his wife and Erdman's younger brother are just as determined that Erdman must have justice.

County Board to Meet.

Crawford county board is to meet here Friday afternoon. James Fisher, the president, a banker of Seneca, announced late this afternoon.

It is a special meeting for the purpose of appropriating both a reward and funds for the prosecution of the search for Erdman.

LOWDEN UNITES CORN AND COTTON FOR SURPLUS ACT

Farmers Give Ovation to Ex-Governor.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The American Farm Bureau federation nailed to its masthead the ideas of Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, on crop surplus control at its final session yesterday.

"West and south got together. The cotton people called it off with the cotton planters and made ready to descend upon Washington in a concerted effort for farm relief. They will demand from congress that it make a national agricultural policy the first business of the present session. They call for a surplus control measure based on the following:

- Provide a federal farm board, administering an adequate revolving fund, with whose help surpluses can actually be handled by cooperative agencies created by the farmers.
- Distribute the costs of managing surpluses just as broadly as the resultant benefits are distributed, that is, over each commodity unit of a particular commodity through an equalization plan.

Plan Urged by Lowden.

It's the Lowden plan, which the former governor has been advocating for more than a year in his journeys through the agricultural regions.

There was a swap between west and south. The King Cotton delegates assumed the lead in the belt equalization idea to which they hitherto been opposed. A tremendous cotton crop and low prices whittled down their old antagonism.

In return the delegates from the corn and bacon zone concurred in the desire of southern delegates for an increase of private leases of power at Muscle Shoals, with a view of cutting the cost of farm fertilizer. The bid of the American Cyanamid company was approved.

Ovation for Ex-Governor.

Former Governor Lowden, a possible candidate for the presidency, was the lion of the day. He was given a resounding welcome and at the end of his address was kept busy shaking hands for nearly an hour. No open mention of presidential politics was made at the session, but it nearly bumbled in the air. Out in the anterooms and smoking chambers politics was about all the 1,500 attendees did talk of. And the burden of it all, from southern Democrats as well as western Republicans, was that the hope of again electing him in 1928 was great.

The former governor was in great form. He gave the address he has delivered, in essence, in scores of conventions, and he added amplifications. He fell upon the old law of supply and demand and ended it up and up. He hammered away at the idea that American agriculture is trying to find a way of handling its surplus crops, just as Brazil did with coffee, Great Britain with rubber, and Australia with wool.

Coolidge's Views Ignored.

President Coolidge's message to Congress was not openly mentioned in the sessions, but the corridors diplomatic were resounding with its reiterated opposition to farm relief plans as set forth from the corn belt. The resolutions rapped the administration here and there, inferentially, but what was widely commented upon was that the convention since went ahead and ignored the President's message and his views on agriculture.

Then, to cap it all, it adopted as its surplus control principle the scheme proposed by Mr. Lowden. It made no mention of the McNary-Haugen bill, and its position was regarded as modish.

The resolutions were as long as the old lane without a turning, and they covered almost as many topics as a President's message or a national party platform.

They came out for a law to regulate rail rates, lending so that farmers might tune without interference.

They rapped. Secretary Mellon's treasury department for interference with the farm loan system. They discussed with the policy of refunding treasury surplus income tax payers and urged that any surplus of income over expenses should be used in cutting down the national debt.

Would Shift Tax Burden.

On state taxation, the convention adopted a rather sensational utterance.

ASSAIS DEAL

Louise Owen, secretary of the late Lord Northcliffe, who is suing to have set aside as a breach of trust a security deal in which Lord Rothermere, proprietor of the London Daily Mail, and Sir George A. Sutton were interested. (Pacific and Atlantic Photo.)

It was called a "suggestive plank." In many states tax legislation will be great before the general assembly.

The tenor of the suggestions in this chapter on taxes seems to be, on analysis, the shifting of the tax burden to make it press less heavily on agriculture and more heavily on industry. It suggests a state income tax and that the state government should be relieved of taxes other than those imposed on real property, leaving this to be taxed for local governments.

The tax resolution suggests inheritance, corporation, luxury, and consumption taxes as sources of revenue. One suggestion is that lamb might be taxed on earning value instead of sales value.

"Equalization of the tax burden," says the resolution, "by lessening the value or rate on farm land and increasing values or rates on other properties perhaps the most immediate benefit we can accredit to farmers from a state program."

It says the cost of government has mounted beyond the ability of old tax methods to meet, that sources of revenue other than the property tax must be made available, and that in deciding on methods ability to pay should be the major consideration.

Lowden Cites Brazil Example.

Ex-Gov. Lowden was acclaimed as he appeared in the convention hall. In the course of his remarks he said:

AUTO THEFT CASE

Harry M. Curran Faces
Year in Bridewell.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? IT MAY BE A DIVORCE AREA

Choice of a residential district in which to establish their home may be a topic of more weighty consideration to Chicago newlyweds after they scan the statistics compiled by Dr. Ernest R. Mowrer, social psychologist of the University of Chicago, who has completed a book called "Family Disorganization."

One of Dr. Mowrer's conclusions, partially illustrated with maps and charts—is that the neighborhood in which one lives apparently exerts a definite influence on marital happiness. The divorce rate in proportion to population varies greatly in different districts.

Using the figures of 1919 as a basis, Dr. Mowrer reveals that living in the Wilson avenue, district involves a greater divorce risk than does for instance Washington Heights. In the former 45 districts, with a total of 10,000 of population, while in the latter only 5 divorces were recorded for the same population.

The youth said he was most recently employed by the state industrial committee.

"I thought you were employed by the sanitary district board," said Judge Lindsay.

"I was over there some time ago, but I was not on the pay roll then," young Curran replied.

Divorce areas are listed by the author as Edison Park, Rogers Park, northwest, Montrose, Ravenswood, Wilson avenue, Edgewater, Austin, Gage Park, Chicago, South Park, North Park, Grand Crossing, Burnside, Normal Park, Windsor Park, Roseland, South Chicago, and Oakdale.

"What is that you said?" sternly said the judge, and the lawyer did not repeat his suggestion.

The automobile was stolen from Richard Horwell, 1385 Madison Park, on Oct. 3, and was recovered in Curran's possession by Sgt. William Maher and his detective bureau squad two days later. The Judge continued the case for several hours while he sent out a special request to Detective Chief Schossmaker to have the policemen in court to testify.

Clifford Rupright, 30 years old, 5461 Lake Park avenue, was arrested last night as one of three men who are accused of robbing Mrs. Charles Fischer in her flat at 1421 East 56th street yesterday noon. According to Mrs. Fischer, the bandits forced her to disrobe and turn over to them her clothes and $37 in cash. They were masked and their faces were blacked with burnt cork, but she recognized one of them as Rupright, a former roomer, she said. Police are now seeking his two companions.

CITY ACCEPTS SETTLEMENT ON EXPERT'S FEES

Council Votes Covenant; Suit Goes On Today.

In behalf of the taxpayers of Chicago, the city council yesterday accepted the offer of Ernest H. Lyons, a defendant in THE TRIBUNE's suit to recover for the city $1,732,278 in real estate experts' fees, to make restitution to the city to the face amount of $435,853, and officially thanked THE TRIBUNE for its "public spirited service."

The proffered payment comprises a check for $40,000, conveyance of properties valued at $50,000, cancellation of old claims, and delegation of authority to the city for the recovery of $183,594 in income taxes, paid by Lyons. THE TRIBUNE was suing Lyons for recovery of $577,426 in fees collected on several city beautiful projects under the Thompson régime in 1921, but its lawyers agreed to accept the $435,853 as the best settlement possible.

Both Mayor Dever and Corporation Counsel Busch, who have cooperated with THE TRIBUNE in the suit, were elated over the agreement and expressed the opinion that it was a stroke to the ultimate victory in the suit, which will be continued against the other two real estate experts, Edward C. Waller Jr. and Arthur S. Mergold, and former city officials.

Busch Praises Tribune.
It is well known that THE TRIBUNE has always used its great influence in the great cause of justice in a stroke to the ultimate victory in the suit, which will be continued against the other two real estate experts, Edward C. Waller Jr. and Arthur S. Mergold, and former city officials.

MEMBERS OF HOUSE COMMITTEE REVOLT AGAINST NAVY SLASH

[Chicago Tribune Free Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Members of the house naval affairs committee today revolted against the bureau's interference with the realization of the 1924 naval construction program, which, according to Representative Britton [Rep., Ill.], "in the name of economy, is seriously jeopardized." They voted to demand a published comparison of the probable cruiser strength of Great Britain, Japan, and the United States in 1925, in which the United States lags far behind, the committee summoned Secretary of the Navy Verner [Rep., Ill.] to testify before Congress in 1924 and scheduled for completion in 1927, only two have been started and they cannot be completed before 1929.

The upshot of the all day meeting of the committee was a warning from Representative Butler [Rep., Pa.], chairman of the committee, that so far as he and most of the majority members of the committee are concerned, no more navy proposals will be considered unless they are received that, once authorized, the programs will be pushed to completion in accordance with the legislation.

demonstration of its desire to serve the community."

At the end of the finance committee, Ald. Ross A. Woodhull [Seventh] pointed out to the council the special value of the restoration of funds at this time. "In view," he said, "of the financial stringency in which the city finds itself."

"Every dollar that goes into the treasury is welcome," he declared, "and I believe that every alderman, as well as every citizen of Chicago, owes a vote of thanks to THE TRIBUNE, Mayor Dever, Mr. Busch, and the attorneys for bringing such these assets to the treasury of the city."

Assistant Corporation Counsel Jay Schiller, who cooperated with Weymouth Kirkland, Howard Ellis, and William Wilson, THE TRIBUNE attorney, expressed optimism about the outcome of the case.

Council Adopts Covenant.

The official action of the council was to adopt a covenant, proposed to accept the offer of Lyons and an agreement not to prosecute further the suit against him. The ordinance was immediately signed by Mayor Dever, and goes into effect at once.

The total claim against Lyons was $577,426. Mr. Busch referred to the council, "but it is our belief, after an independent investigation, that the city is getting all Lyons can pay, and that continued litigation would simply reduce his assets further."

The trial against the other experts against whom THE TRIBUNE had sued as a taxpayer more than five years ago, will be continued before Judge Hugo M. Friend today. The suit is being conducted at the expense of THE TRIBUNE, and all money recovered goes into the city treasury.

CLEANER CITY, STARTING JAN. 1, COUNCIL PLEDGE

about the garbage and ash cans overflowing on their back porches, received a definite pledge from the city council yesterday that on Jan. 1 their troubles will be at an end.

Prompted by unending complaints from their constituents, the aldermen voted to appropriate $4,500,000 in the 1927 budget to pay for first class street cleaning service throughout the city. The past year the appropriation was $4,700,000.

The appropriation, according to Commissioner of Public Works Sprague, means that ashes will be removed every 9 days in summer and every 6 days in winter, while garbage trucks will call every 6 days in summer and every 8 days in winter.

Streets on which there are street car lines are to be cleaned every day under the new schedule, Mr. Sprague promises, and the sweepers will go into side streets, including those of the outlying wards, once every two weeks in the summer.

The new plan will abolish the present system of ward allotments, under which each alderman obtained more money for his ward, profitably and was responsible for its expenditure. It also will remove the work from politics, as the problem of clean streets and alleys has often been an issue in aldermanic campaigns.

After Jan. 1 the money is to be spread over the city as a whole, the commissioners of public works seeing to it that one section gets the same service as another. If the appropriation runs short the poorer service will be felt equally in all wards.

Al. John Clark [30th] introduced the order, and it was supported by Ald. Ross A. Woodhull [7th], chairman of the finance committee. Al. William O'Toole [14th] had vigorously defended the ward allotment plan in committee, but he was not present at the council meeting.

CLEVELAND'S SEWAGE FOULS THE GREAT LAKES

Disposal Plants a Myth, Poured Into Erie.

gave before congress in an attack upon Chicago.

Even the carriage guilds of Euclid beach contradicted Mr. Hopkins, who at the behest of Cleveland's lake shipping barons, he went to Washington and said, as it is written in the verbatim record:

"The city of Cleveland had to provide for the city of a million people, both to take care of sewage and of their requirements for water, and today has installed three sewage disposal plants. Further than that, we have provided and are providing plants to filter all this water. In other words, with less than $13,000,000, we will have treated the sewage for a city of a million, and we will have filtered their water."

"Now, isn't it preposterous for a great, splendid city like Chicago to say that they cannot do that kind of thing?"

Testimony of Utilities Director.

In answer to Mr. Hopkins is quoted the directly contradictory statement of his cabinet officer, Howell Wright, director of public utilities in full charge of sewage problems who in a public address on Oct. 21, 1926, at Toledo said:

"Pollution of the lake water continues . . . Shore waters, or the great part of the Cleveland water front, are badly polluted. The treatment of sewage is limited and entirely inadequate at present."

"Typhoid fever epidemics can be started in a few hours by an infow of insufficiently purified water and the potential hazards which our bacterial statistics indicate cannot be regarded otherwise than danger signals. They plainly show how heavily we lean on disinfection, which is all that saves the situation . . . and the question

DAVIS AND JADWIN ASK MIDWEST WATERWAYS BE COMPLETED FIRST

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—(Special)—Appearing before 500 delegates attending the twenty-second rivers and harbors congress, Secretary of War Davis and Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, today urged the completion of the Mississippi river system and other waterways now anticipated by Congress before spending funds on other projects.

Gen. Jadwin urged the construction of the St. Lawrence waterway and was applauded by the delegates. He emphasized the value which would accrue to the middle west if Chicago and other large cities made ocean ports. He asserted that deeper harbors and cheaper ocean rates increase profits on exports.

The city of Cleveland had to provide for the city of a million people, both to take care of sewage and of their requirements for water, and today has installed three sewage disposal plants. Further than that, we have provided and are providing plants to filter all this water. In other words, with less than $13,000,000, we will have treated the sewage for a city of a million, and we will have filtered their water."

"Now, isn't it preposterous for a great, splendid city like Chicago to say that they cannot do that kind of thing?"

Call Misstatements Typical.

Cleveland professional men, who profess sympathy for Chicago's problem, declare Mr. Hopkins' misstatements are typical of the fallacious propaganda spread by laymen in behalf of the lakes shipping interests, which always claim Chicago's drainage diversion is a "great water steal."

Engineers, technically trained men, frequently have confounded the misinformed city fathers with statements such as those of George E. Gascoline, famous sanitary engineer of Cleveland, and consultant city engineer of Cleveland, said in a public address that if Cleveland had a "back yard" into which to turn its sewage as Chicago does, there is no question in my mind, that we would be doing the same advantages of such an asset."

And there is the statement today of Joseph W. Ellms, engineer of water purification and sewage of the city of Cleveland, made after he personally inspected an inspection of the city's sewage plant:

"To dump the tremendous sewage load of Chicago into Lake Michigan, as we are dumping ours into Lake Erie, and in two years Chicago would be wiped out by typhoid. Disinfection could not carry the load."

Cleveland's expenditure on sewage collection and disposal, beginning in 1907, amount to $12,000,000. A new modern treatment plant, under construction by Mr. Gascoline, and will be completed in two years at a cost of $4,000,000. It will handle only 20 per cent of the city's sewage from the most populated section of the city.

Chicago up to Jan. 1, 1926, had spent $15,000,000. Since March, 1925, over $15,000,000 was spent on a sewage treatment program. The sanitary district's 1926 budget appropriates $22,787,000 for the treatment program, while in the year just run to more than $19,000,000. Cleveland's planned expenditures are only for the new wastewater plant.

Descriptions of Plants.

Brief descriptions of the two sewage disposal plants of Cleveland, based upon observation and the explanations of Mr. Ellms, are given as follows:

The Easterly plant, located on Euclid, just east of Euclid Beach, contains 1,500,000 cubic feet of concrete, and cost $1,500,000 and discharges the wastes of 50 per cent of the population.

The sewage passes through a grating with one and one-half inch slots, and then through a three-quarter inch grating, so that no material is caught. Next are grit chambers through which the sewage flows rapidly, and in which heavy particles, such as gravel and street sweepings, drop into traps. From there the sewage drops into an outfall and enters the lake. It is a dirty olive color, and can be plainly seen suspended and floating filth.

And it goes out there to the gulls.

Filth for the Bathers.

In the three months' bathing season great quantities of chlorine are mixed with the sewage, and about 85 per cent of the bacteria are killed, but the filth is still there, and clings to the shore and to the bathers, according to visitors into Gordon park, on the west and Euclid beach on the east. Nothing is planned to remedy this situation, despite numerous protests from beach owners and others.

Consider the beaches at Jackson Park, Oak street and Lincoln park covered with the dirt filth, see a picture of Cleveland's beach movement is given. It would be Chicago's fate if the diversion there was halted.

At the Westernly plant, which cost $1,500,000 and handles some 25 per cent of the population's wastes, a somewhat similar sewage disposal system is carried out, but in the end everything is dumped into the lake.

The raw sewage passes through bar gratings and grit chambers into Imhoff settling tanks. There most of the filth settles out, but an almost inconsequential number of the bacteria are eliminated. Last month the raw sewage contained 1,367,000 bacteria per c. c., and the effluent which went into the lake had 287,000 per c. c. Of the c. c. coli there were 25,000 per c. c. in the raw sewage and 78,000 in the effluent.

No Trickling Filters.

Mr. Ellms said the treatment should go farther, the sewage being put through trickling filters, which greatly reduce the bacterial content, but none of the modern installations now in use are available land for them.

The settled matter in the Imhoff tanks, called sludge, is a viscous brownish-black looking mess, flowing like molasses, and, according to modern treatment, should be dried and used as fill on low land. But Cleveland has no such land for them.

"What is the good of all this if you dump everything into the lake, anyway?" Mr. Ellms was asked. He showed his point.

"That is what we have been telling our people," he replied. "There is practically no treatment or disposal here, although the digestion of the sludge in the tanks somewhat reduces its dangerous qualities."

Barges Too Expensive.

Original plans called for the hauling away of the sludge in scows fastened in one of the world's largest laboratories by combining a number of modern discoveries. It has proved itself so efficient, so quick, so comfortable that we paid $1,000,000 for it. HILL'S does all things at once. Check the catalog stored in the store open 24 hours.

WACKER RETIRES AS PRESIDENT OF CITY'S PLANNERS

Charles H. Wacker, president of the Chicago plan commission since its creation seventeen years ago, has resigned from that position. He will be succeeded by James Simpson of Marshall Field & Co.

Wacker made these two announcements yesterday in a special message to the city council. His resignation, it was learned, became effective Nov. 4, but his discharge has been withheld pending the selection of a new president. The council concurred in the appointment of Mr. Simpson.

Mr. Wacker, who is 76 years old, gave reasons of ill health. Mayor Dever explained. The resignation was accepted with the greatest reluctance, as mayor said, but explained that Mr. Wacker had insisted that a young, more active man replace him.

Leader in Other Civic Work.

In addition to his work on the plan commission, to which he devoted a large part of his time, Mr. Wacker also had served in numerous other capacities. He was head of the United Charities from 1905 to 1912, a director of the Chicago Red Cross, the Art Institute, and several clubs. He is a director of the Corn Exchange National bank.

Mr. Simpson is one of the most prominent among Chicago's business men and civic leaders. He was acting chairman of the citizens' river straightening committee and is a member of the new transit commission. He has been a member of the plan commission for several years.

The termination of Mr. Wacker's leadership of the planning group, it was noted, will leave the city to enter an unprecedented era of public building in Chicago, a large part of which has been guided by the plan commission.

Drive Named for Him.

The commission's latest improvement and one which will live in Mr. Wacker's name because of his efforts to make it reality, is Wacker drive, a new $24,000,000 two level boulevard along the river from Michigan Avenue to Market street.

An organization meeting of the commission, at which Mr. Simpson will take office, is to be held within a few days. It was decided yesterday that Euclid S. Taylor, manager of the commission, will continue in that position, it was announced.

SCRIVEN TABLET UNVEILED BEFORE RAILWAY MEN

(Picture on back page.) A memorial tablet to William Hooper Scriven, erected by employees of the Pennsylvania railroad, was unveiled yesterday at Cleveland near his grave in Lake View cemetery.

President W. W. Atterbury of the railroad presided at the ceremonies and addresses were given by Harley R. McKnight, treasurer of the railroad, and Arthur Jacobs, chairman of the memorial fund. The tablet was unveiled by Mr. Scriven's daughter, Jane and Betty Scriven. It is inlaid in a panel similar to an Italian door, copied from a portal in the gardens of the Villa d'Este, near Rome.

Mr. Scriven, who was western general superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad with offices in Chicago, was killed in an automobile accident, Oct. 3.

Grandma Nusbaum Loses Her Case in Higher Court

"Grandma" Ellen Nusbaum, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for her part in the murder of her husband, Alfred Nusbaum, a Negro garage contractor, was refused a writ of habeas corpus by the Supreme court yesterday. That court refused to grant her liberty on bail, as asked by her attorney, pending a review of Judge Emanuel H. Winn's sentence. John Walton Winn is under sentence of death for his participation in the crime.

Leader in Other Civic Work.

In addition to his work on the plan commission, to which he devoted a large part of his time, Mr. Wacker also had served in numerous other capacities. He was head of the United Charities from 1905 to 1912, a director of the Chicago Red Cross, the Art Institute, and several clubs. He is a director of the Corn Exchange National bank.

Mr. Simpson is one of the most prominent among Chicago's business men and civic leaders. He was acting chairman of the citizens' river straightening committee and is a member of the new transit commission. He has been a member of the plan commission for several years.

The termination of Mr. Wacker's leadership of the planning group, it was noted, will leave the city to enter an unprecedented era of public building in Chicago, a large part of which has been guided by the plan commission.

Drive Named for Him.

The commission's latest improvement and one which will live in Mr. Wacker's name because of his efforts to make it reality, is Wacker drive, a new $24,000,000 two level boulevard along the river from Michigan Avenue to Market street.

An organization meeting of the commission, at which Mr. Simpson will take office, is to be held within a few days. It was decided yesterday that Euclid S. Taylor, manager of the commission, will continue in that position, it was announced.

MEXICO, THE FAILURE IN CIVILIZATION.

President Calles made a statement of principles and policies in reply to a question given him by a Mexican newspaper writer. He was asked whether there was truth in the American reports that bolshevism was at the bottom of Mexican conflict and that this spreading to the south endangered the Panama canal. He said that if that was not slanderous it would be ridiculous. He said that the object of the Mexican government was to save the masses of the Mexican people from misery and ignorance, to give them schools and a culture which would raise their civilization, to improve their diet and their health and their social conditions.

He said that he could obtain the false title of pacific of his country and rebuilder of his nation if he would continue the work of Porfirio Diaz, protecting the rich, scorning the poor, shooting the workingmen, and squandering the resources abroad while hiring papers to praise him.

The American desire for Mexico is that which Calles says is his ideal. We have ceased to believe that the purpose which a Mexican government expresses in words is the purpose which it reveals in acts. The issue which the American government has with the Mexican government is one involving good faith. Mexico made an agreement regarding the legal rights of American citizens in Mexico. It proposes, or so it seems from diplomatic statements and many acts, to break the agreement and disregard the rights, confiscating property. That is not civilization and it is not the road to it.

It is natural for a government which breaks its international agreements to find some defense for it in the humanities and moralities. Mexican well-being is advanced by fair relations with the United States. Fair play is its basis. The looting of property is not the support of civilization, but the destruction of it.

Mexico has failed to make a civilization because its people have not been willing to use the restraints which civilization requires. They either have been held in ignorance too great to understand these requirements or they have not had the character to abide by them. Mexico is the greatest failure on the North American continent and it has the longest history. Possibly if the United States found most of its population still composed of Mohawks, Senecas, Creeks, Seminoles, Miamis, Shawnees, Sioux, Flatheads, Pueblos, Comanches, and Apaches, in their original state, we might not be so much better off. The fact that Mexico still has such a composition is part of the answer, but it cannot be blown away by words.

The failure of a modern civilized structure to arise in Mexico is apparent all over the land. It joins the United States, and its disorders, under government and against government, are continual irritation.

There are people who believe, or pretend to believe, that America's attitude toward Mexico is rapacious. The contrary is true. American governments have been divided even to protect the lives of American citizens. Under President Wilson, Secretary Bryan advised Americans in Mexico to get out of the country if they did not like what was happening to them and, although Mr. Wilson expressed the highest idealism and humanitarianism in his Mexico statements, it was under him that the United States had the nearest approach to a second war with Mexico, and did actually shell and capture Vera Cruz and also invade from the north.

American governments have been patient or futile with Mexico. The patience has been construed in Mexico as timidity and the futility, as something worse. Even when the United States seemed provoked enough to act decisively the expeditions have had so many strings tied to them that they entangled themselves. There hasn't been any imperialism in the conduct of the United States. There has been bewilderment, weakness, some bluster followed by backdown, and this country has generally submitted to what was done to it on the other side of the border.

In consequence Mexican governments do not think it necessary to play square. It is not an interminable situation, although it seems to have many of the elements of one. It is not in the book that so low an order of society should remain on the North American continent. If we were all going downhill it would be different. The correction will not be in any conscious imperialism in the American republic. That is not in the republic.

Calles speaks well and as a patriot, but he cannot advance his people toward civilization by disregarding or abusing the requisites of civilization. His people cannot find their well-being in the conditions created and condoned in Mexico. They are migrating to the United States to find here what they cannot get in Mexico, and the tolerant United States admits them unrestricted to the opportunities their own lack of civilization order denies them at home.

GASOLINE TAXES.

President Cermak of the county board is opposed to a proposal of Gov. Small to impose a gasoline tax in Illinois for the completion of the state's road program. Cook county, Mr. Cermak points out, is now paying for 35 per cent of the roads in the state but has received only 3 per cent of them and, under the new program, Cook county is to get only 5 per cent of the construction throughout the state.

Mr. Cermak is right. Cook county, of course, ought to do more to pay for state roads outside the county limits. Chicagoans get some of the benefits and ought to pay some of the cost. That is true even of taxicab riders who never get on a state road. If Chicago didn't pay its share the roads could not be built at all through some of the more sparsely settled counties. Opposition in Cook county to the gasoline tax is not based upon the theory that the taxpayers of each county should pay only for their own roads. The opposition comes rather from the fact that Cook county is already the stepchild of the state, and if the gasoline tax is exacted the injustice will become even more glaring.

No one, we believe, can deny that the greatest need for new roads in Illinois is in the Chicago region. Here the roads are most in use and most congested. Cook county sought for relief from the state, obtained little and finally had to dig into its own pocket for $15,000,000 for road building. The county bond issue was approved by the voters last month. Cook county ought not approve any increase in its contribution to the state road fund until confidence can be placed in the fairness of the administration at Springfield. Our needs ought not to be given the least consideration.

BUREAUCRATIC LEGISLATION.

A recent United States Customs court ruling declared that contiguous countries like Canada and Mexico were not "abroad" within the meaning of that portion of the tariff act which gives to returning residents a $100 exemption on all goods purchased abroad. Such a decision, if fully enforced, means a serious curtailment of American expenditures, in Canada especially, and will also increase the American burden of customs examination.

It is obvious, of course, that the court went out on a common sense interpretation of the law, in making its decision. While one does not commonly speak of a trip to Canada or Mexico as "going abroad," the term as used in a legislative sense can mean but one thing—that is, any country without the boundaries of the United States and its territories.

A law on leaving the hands of the legislators is merely entering its period of adolescence. It does not reach its majority until it has been manhandled and interpreted by every bureau that can lay hands on it. When it emerges its parents are fortunate if they can recognize it. What it amounts to is the usurpation of the function of one branch of the government by another. An executive bureau is not happy unless it is—in such a fashion as in this customs case—legislating on its own account.

RUMINATION.

The Rev. Dr. Timothy Stone's remarks at a meeting of the Association of Commerce suggest some interesting speculation. In an appeal for thoughtfulness in our hurried age, he said: "It is not that the ordinary man may not know enough; he perhaps knows and sees too much. He knows an immense amount without having thought anything through. The quiet hour is almost unknown to him."

We suspect there is a good deal in the doctor's remark, but perhaps not as much as might seem plausible. Most of our thinking is directed at practical ends and probably is as thorough as ever. On the other hand, we doubt that thinking for thought's sake, thinking on general non-practical topics, has ever been much indulged in by homo sapiens. We have the familiar statement of the elderly man who, when asked how he spent his time, said: "I sit and think, and sometimes I just sit," and for most people "just sitting" is likely to have the better of it.

In our day with universal newspapers, cheap books, radios, victrolas, and a considerable paraphernalia of devices for entertainment, to say nothing of the automobile and the golf links, there is much more to do with our leisure than formerly. Doubtless these temptations reduce a little the time one might otherwise give to thought or thoughtful reading, as distinguished from pastime reading. But we wonder if it really reduces the amount of such thinking very much. Few people meditate. Few people ever did. They were more likely to just sit. It is less trouble. Thought takes energy and is likely to be disturbing. It is not always comforting or pleasurable.

So perhaps people in the main think about as much as ever. There are some who do less than they would have in a world less preoccupied in its objective activities. Perhaps we are more superficial and our minds clogged with half considered facts. The increase of the mechanical means of existence may have cut down even purposive or practical thinking, but we suspect the habit of thinking for its own sake or of meditating or ruminating is not a very natural one and never was characteristic of more than a very small minority of any generation. Its value, we agree with Dr. Stone, is very great to the individual and to society, but it will be rare for a long time to come.

Editorial of the Day

MAJOR MENACE FACES IOWA.
(Davenport [Ia.] Times)

The greatest menace ever to confront the state of Iowa and her neighbors in the corn belt is the boll weevil. Though it is moving at a rate of but 35 miles a year, it is none too soon to adopt a vigorous policy of extermination.

A federal appropriation is warranted, in the face of the pestilence, upon which the live stock industry as well depends, but the proposal for a federal bounty may bring such spirited opposition as to delay it.

Those who are fully cognizant of the devastation wrought by this invader, who have seen a wide expanse which formerly produced 50 bushels of corn to the acre yield but ten and fifteen bushels, will reply that such a bounty would be cheap indeed if it halted the advance.

The more desperate the situation becomes, the more policies will be played. It is this which carries the greatest menace.

Were the corn borer to gain a foothold in the heart of the corn belt, the urban populations would find it reflected in much higher prices for meats. Whatever is spent to eradicate this devastating host will be a great public economy in the long run.

States admits them unrestricted to the opportunities their own lack of civilization order denies them at home.

CHILD HAS BAD BREATH.

Mrs. F. M. M. writes: I am puzzled over my 3-year and 4-month old boy. He weighs 35 pounds, looks the picture of health, has a good appetite and is not constipated, but he has a bad breath and a coated tongue. Could overeating be the cause?

2. Please give diet for child his age. REPLY.

1. It may be his tonsils, but his digestive apparatus is the probable cause.

2. Give bread, cooked cereals, fruits, cooked vegetables, meat, fish, milk, and dessert puddings, etc.

CURING CALLUSES.

H. E. R. writes: Will you tell us how the calluses on the bottom of the feet, that become exceedingly painful unless they are frequently and regularly pared, can be permanently removed?

It is best to let him sit on an elderly person to whom he himself is a position that he can see to work on the bottom of his feet, and the result is not infrequently cuts, etc., but the paring has to be done walking would be impossible.

3. Please give diet for child his age.

REPLY.

I have known people who have cured calluses under the feet by changing the shape and size of the shoe. A hard even inner sole is better than one that is soft and yielding.

4. Calluses due to uneven pressure. You can remove the callus with corn plasters.

5. Paring corns is dangerous when you cannot avoid cutting into the soft tissues.

HEALTHY TO RIDE HORSE.

W. C. H. writes: Is it likely to be harmful for a man of 65 to ride horseback moderately?

Have never ridden much and not at all in fifty years.

Am in good health, 5 feet 10 inches in height, and weigh 155 pounds.

REPLY.

No.

On the other hand, it should be beneficial.

ALL THE music of all the world is yours on demand with these wonderful Victor instruments. Music from records. Music, speech, and sports from the air. Whenever you wish. Without regard to hour, day, season, or weather. No better investment in entertainment can be made.

We urge you to hear the new Orthophonic Victrola, the Victrola-with-Radiola, and the Victor Electrola before deciding upon any sound-reproducing instrument. Hear them first or hear them last—it does not matter. You will come back to the Victor as the one incomparable instrument for you.

In no other way can you hear music reproduced with such naturalness . . . with such uncanny fidelity to the original rendition. For the Victor instruments are based upon the new, scientific principle of "matched impedance" . . . and this principle is controlled exclusively by the Victor Talking Machine Company!

Detail by detail, the Victor instruments are beyond the reach of successful imitation. There are pearls which, to the casual observer, look like orientals. They are worn about the neck the same as orientals. But they are not orientals!

Look over the line of Victor instruments on this page, then see your nearest Victor dealer. Ask him to play your favorite music on any of them. Be critical! Then judge these amazing instruments on their merits. Prices are $1000 to as low as $95.

SMITH, LUNDIN? EITHER MAY GET MCKINLEY SEAT

Porter's Death Also Stirs
Both Parties.

With the political possibilities caused by the deaths, within a few hours of each other, of United States Senator William B. McKinley and Sanitary District Trustee George Hull Porter occupying their attention, speculation was rife yesterday as to the political fate of both parties on the question of filling the vacancies.

The question of a successor to fill the unexpired term of Senator McKinley, which ends on March 4, 1927, was the subject of most discussion in St. Louis, but the effect of Mr. Porter's death on the Democratic control of the sanitary district was being overlooked. His death leaves four Republicans and four Democrats as sanitary district trustees.

Smith May Decline.

The question of Senator McKinley's seat, which is to be filled by appointment by Gov. Len Small, who died Tuesday of heart disease in St. Louis, hung over the session. Mr. Small will be in Calvary cemetery there.

F. P. Sullivan, Oil Man, Will Be Buried Tomorrow

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in St. Jerome's church for Francis P. Sullivan, former president of the Sullivan Oil company, who died Tuesday of heart disease in St. Louis. He was 62 years old.

Many of his friends, it is said, are urging him to take the appointment, arguing that as a special appointee the question of excessive campaign expenses cannot be raised against him until the term begins, and that in three months he would have in Washington enough time to make friends and build fences for the fight.

Some Mention of Fred Lundin.

In the event that Gov. Small does not appoint him or Mr. Smith refuses the appointment, several names were mentioned as possible successors to Senator McKinley. Some thought that F. P. Sullivan could be the governor's choice, while others mentioned former Senator William Lorimer, who was unseated, but who is a close friend of Small and who, it is known, would like to go back to the Senate.

Though all the diehard, however, the two who could throw any light on the subject remained silent. Gov. Small, in Springfield, announced that no statement on the matter would be made until after Senator McKinley's funeral tomorrow, while Mr. Smith, who was in Chicago, refused to comment.

While plans for the funeral of Mr. Porter, who is to be buried today, were being completed by his family and friends, politicians were wondering what effect his death would have on the sanitary district. Democratic leaders remain with the party in control, counting on the vote of Trustees Frank J. Link, a Deneen Republican.

As Mr. Porter's term had more than a year to run, his successor must be chosen at a special election called by Gov. Small, but Republican leaders are predicting that there will be no need for such an election, on the grounds that a recount of the ballots will show that Mr. Porter was not entitled to the office.

King Predicts Contests.

Trustee Lawrence F. King, the only Republican elected last month announced yesterday that Charles E. Grayson and possibly Morris Eller, would file nominations.

"There was only a difference of about 5,000 votes in the totals of Mr. Porter and Mr. Graydon," said Mr. King.

The board met at a special session yesterday and adopted resolutions on the death of Mr. Porter and voted to

NITRO-GLYCERIN FILLED DOG CHASES RABBIT, FALLS AND EXPLODES

Irvine, Ky., Dec. 8.—[Special]—With an explosion of nitroglycerin within the body of a dog a short season of flight in a section of the Lee county oil fields near here came to an end. The dog drank about a pint of the explosive mixture and tried to capture it, the dog ran away.

The workers cleared out and the owner of the dog moved his wife and ten children from their home.

Later the dog chased a rabbit over a fifty foot precipice, fell, and exploded.

HOUSES ADJOURN IN TRIBUTE TO W. B. MCKINLEY

Delegations Named to Attend Funeral.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—[Special]—The death of Senator McKinley was announced in congress today and both houses adjourned in respect to his memory.

Senator Deneen, in announcing the death of his colleague, said he would ask the senate to set aside a special day on which to pay formal tribute to the memory of McKinley.

Senators Deane, in announcing the death of his colleague, said he would ask the senate to set aside a special day on which to pay tribute to his memory.

CHICAGOANS TO ATTEND.

Three special cars will be attached to the 9 o'clock Illinois Central train tomorrow morning, to take Chicagoans to the funeral that afternoon. Senator McKinley's fine qualities will be remembered by the members of the Illinois Traction company.

Among others will be Mrs. Medill McCormick and other friends of the late senator.

Representatives selected for two years.

that it would be unwise for Mr. Smith to accept the appointment to McKinley's vacancy and precipitate in this session the movement to deny the Illinois senator elect a seat on grounds connected with the primary slush fund charges.

Body Reaches Champaign.

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 8.—The body of the late United States Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois arrived here this afternoon from Martinsville, Ind., where he died yesterday.

Lies rites will be held at the First Presbyterian church, of which the Rev. George McKinley, the senator's father, was pastor 69 years ago. The Rev. Edward J. Brinkema, present pastor, and the Rev. J. W. Malone, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, officiate. William H. Hudson, president of Blackburn college, Carrollton, Ill., and a personal friend of the senator, will make a short address. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery here.

The casket will not be opened to the public. Mrs. George Mattie, niece,

3 TOUGH LITTLE TUGS AND A GIANT END SOO ICE JAM

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Three powerful little tugs and the giant car ferry Sainte Marie brought the greatest ice blockade in the history of great lakes navigation practically to an end today.

While the big railroad ferry was smashing into the ice barrier the tugs, hauling ahead and swinging from side to side, yanked the steamer General Garretson out of its ice moorings in West Neebish channel and opened the way for the movement down of the great fleet of grain carriers that since Dec. 1 had been caught in a jam of ice that closed the "bottle neck" of lake navigation routes.

Some of the upbound fleet of coal carriers have passed the locks here for Lake Superior ports while others have turned up here to wait for coal, their bunkers having been exhausted during the long siege in the river.

Not a pound of coal is available here, however, until the Lake Carriers association has paid the purchase of the cargo of one of the fuel laden vessels and empties it on local docks.

It was announced today that the locks will hold open only for vessels leaving upper lake ports before midnight of Dec. 15.

DEBATE REVEALS
TAX CUT OPINIONS*Hostility to Coolidge's Plan Expressed.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—[Special]—Discussion of proposed tax cuts opened the opening of debate on the treasury and postoffice appropriation bill today in the house.

Representative Madden [Rep., Ill.], chairman of the appropriations committee, in presenting a statement of the financial condition of the government, declared himself for President Coolidge's plan for a temporary reduction in income taxes.

Representatives La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.] and Smith [Dem., Ill.] showed opposition to the President's scheme in statements directed at Mr. Madden.

The Democratic tax reduction plan was formally presented during the day as a bill introduced by Representative Garner [Dem., Tex.]. The majority member of this committee recommended it. It provides for a reduction in tax on corporation earnings from 10% to 11% per cent and repeals taxes on automobiles, admissions, club dues, and produce exchange transactions.

Madden Opposes Biennial Plan.

Representative Madden, while approving the plan of President Coolidge for a temporary tax reduction, took issue with him over a suggestion for a biennial instead of annual approach.

Under the present system, he said, it is necessary to prepare estimates as much as eighteen months in advance of the use of the money, and if appropriations were on a biennial basis it would be necessary to guess from two and one-half to three years in advance what the needs of government departments would be.

Representative La Guardia indicated that he favored applying surplus revenue toward debt retirement.

Representative Sabath suggested that the President's plan would make a gift to corporations which already have passed their taxes along to the public.

Senators' Views Expressed.

Senator Simmons [Dem., N. C.], ranking minority member of the Senate finance committee, while approving the provisions of the Garner bill, announced in the senate he would aid to a reduction in rates on the smaller individual incomes and a cut in tobacco taxes.

The Garner bill would provide for an aggregate tax cut of $35,000,000, which Senator Simmons would boost to $38,000,000.

The Garner tax bill in reducing revenues by $235,000,000 would take $20,000,000 from corporation income taxes, $15,000,000 from the repeal of automobile excise taxes, $25,000,000 from the repeal of taxes on admissions and club dues, and $5,000,000 from the repeal of the stamp tax on sales on produce exchanges.

ITALIANS BLAME
FRANCE FOR ROW
ON ALBANIA PACT*Military Clause in the Treaty Denied.

ROME, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The recently signed Italian-Albanian treaty contains no secret military clauses and in no way can be considered injurious to peace in the Balkans, Italian officials stated today.

The treaty, it was asserted, is merely a pact of friendship and arbitration between Italy and Albania, insuring peace, guaranteeing absolute sovereignty and territorial integrity to Albania, and confirming and emphasizing the principles upheld by the league of nations.

Instead of being a means of penetration into Albania, it was described as a solemn proclamation of Italy's abstention from internal Albanian affairs. Finally, it was stated, the treaty was within the Adriatic radius, did not regard or affect the policy of the Balkans and that therefore it was absurd to describe it as injurious to Balkan peace.

Italian Papers Blame France.

Italian newspapers in general attributed the present outbreak in southern Europe over the treaty to a resumption of active French influence at Belgrade under the guidance of Premier Poincaré, who is charged with changing everywhere the more moderate policies of Foreign Minister Brindizi.

Premier Poincaré, Giornale d'Italia says, wishes to have complete control of the little entente—Czechoslovakia, Rumania, and Jugoslavia—and to use it as an instrument of French policy against Italy, but also against France, but also against Italy. Besides political agreements France and Jugoslavia have already concluded and developed military agreements," the paper declares.

France, through its arms factories, supplies Jugoslavia with cannon, rifles, and machine guns, the paper continues. "Also, the last revolt at Scutari [Albania] had as its ally and ally the Jugoslav general staff with a previous understanding with France."

Regret Jugoslav Resignations.

Some of the papers charge that at the opening of each meeting of the league of nations there is always a campaign of misrepresentation toward Italy, in which France is seen as a moving factor, and that this time the resignation of Foreign Minister Ninchitch of Jugoslavia was set upon as a pretext.

The resignation of Dr. Ninchitch (which was followed by the resignation of the entire Jugoslav cabinet) produced surprise, together with regret, since it had been shown him to be friendly toward Italy, seeming to understand, as one official said, the "ultimate lofty ideals of the Italian foreign policy, based on international realities and tending toward the attainment of lasting peace by guaranteeing each country its legitimate independence."

"The Italo-Albanian treaty," this authority added, "is only a part of this Italian general foreign policy, in order to contribute to the consolidation of peace through a network of more intimate and cordial relations in political and economic fields with the countries with which Italy is in most direct contact. It must be remembered that Albania is only a few hours from Italian shores. It is therefore not understandable why Dr. Ninchitch saw in the treaty anything capable of disturbing the political security between Italy and Jugoslavia."

DEFEAT CENSURE FOR BALDWIN ON BRITISH STRIKE

Labor's Motion Beaten by 339 to 131.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Dec. 8.—The Labor party's motion of censure against the government for its handling of the coal strike was rejected yesterday by the House of Commons 339 votes to 131 just before midnight tonight. The speeches were full of the usual reprimands by both sides, but little new was disclosed.

Ernest MacDonald, fresh from his sojourn in Egypt and the desert, led labor's attack. He vigorously denounced the government's lack of policy and charged it "shilly shalloed until it finally settled down to become the tool of the owners." He taunted the government, stating it had only one patriotic constitutional duty—"Go to the country and take the verdict."

Baldwin Defends Actions.

Prime Minister Baldwin defended the government's action. He said he was prepared to go to the country, "in good time, and it will not be in response to any threats of industrial unrest."

The prime minister then launched a vigorous attack on the Labor party, charging it with wanton lack of courtesy and contempt of the law, declaring the Labor politicians had never tried to stop the miners from being foisted by A. J. Cook, the miners' secretary. Cook, he declared, had let down labor, the trade union council, and the miners after bringing them to ignominious disgrace.

Seek Amnesty for Jailed Strikers.

The International Class War Prisoners' Aid society will hold its first national congress Sunday in a campaign to make England safe for communism. In Battersea hall, the center of the labor movement, Tom Mann, chairman of Ben Tillett, George Lansbury, and other leaders will make capitalism and the government over the coils because 5,000 strikers and pickets have been refused a general amnesty for their offense committed during the general strike under the emergency powers act.

COUNTY POLICE OFFICER SEIZED
IN BOOZE RAID

Fred Tuffanelli, a sergeant on the county highway police force, and his brother, Constant, a Thornton township policeman, were among eight men arrested yesterday in raids on two farms in Chicago Heights where giant stills were housed.

The raids were made by ten prohibition agents under the direction of Sheriff Chief Gus Simons and equipment valued at $50,000 was seized.

Following the arrest of Tuffanelli, Chief Leroy Davidson of the highway police appeared at prohibition headquarters and stripped the defendant of his star and credentials.

Home-Made, but Ends Coughs in a Hurry

A family supply of dependable cough medicine. Easly made and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough on chest cold, nervous throat tickle, hoarseness or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up at night with a horse cough, or you have a quiet cough, this old home-made cough remedy.

Any druggist can supply you $\frac{1}{2}$ cupful of water. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, can be relied upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough instantly. It loosens and relaxes the phlegm, relieves throat tickle, and soothes and heals the irritated membranes of the throat and bronchial tubes with such ease and promptness that it is really astonishing.

Pine is a most easily digestible compound of Norway pine extract and palatable resinol, which is probably the best known means of overcoming coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment buy $\frac{1}{2}$ cupfuls of PineX with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. PineX Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Trial of Separation Suit Opens.

the count's conduct after his wife sailed for America in May, 1924. Count Salm said he went to Vienna and sought employment.

Q.—Did you find it? A.—Certainly not.

Q.—And you played tennis all that summer? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you do a day's work anywhere that summer? A.—I could not find an employer.

Q.—Then you never worked a day?

A.—From that time, never.

The witness then admitted that when his wife left him she deposited $2,000 to his account in a Paris bank and that she contributed to their support, while he gave to his wife, family and others $2,000 to $3,000 during the summer, the Jews having been returned later.

Statements by Attorney Conway as to his client's willingness to give her husband a separation led Justice Levy to ask:

"Do you admit that the plaintiff has a prima facie case for separation on the ground of abandonment, leaving open only the question of jurisdiction?"

"Yes," answered Conway. He stated later on that the Countess "never even mentioned the word divorce to me and would continue to do so."

Count Salm then took the witness stand, giving his name as Ludwig Salm, and saying that the name Von Hoogstraten merely designated which of five titled families he belonged to. His manner was calm and in keeping with his immaculate formal morning attire.

The count denied he wrote a series of articles on "How I Wood and Won Millicent Rogers," but admitted that he received $2,500 for the use of his name as the author and used the money to help defray their expenses to Europe.

Wife Paid Hotel Bills.

Under cross-examination, Salm admitted that when he came to America on his last previous trip he wrote on his customs declarations that he was a resident of the United States.

Conway brought out admission that his wife gave him checks to pay their hotel bills at Cannes and Milan.

"What is the sum of your marriage?" Conway asked.

"I don't know," answered the count. Who finally testified that the sum was less than $10,000.

"Was it the bill paid after your marriage?" Conway went on.

"Yes," Salm replied.

"It was paid by two bonds that you got from your wife and sold, wasn't it?" pursued the cross-examiner.

"Yes," Salm admitted the count learning forward in the witness chair apparently extremely angry. The lawyer then asked if the count had misinterpreted his question. "You didn't think I'd said 'stole,' did you?" Conway asked.

"No, no," said the witness more calmly. "I misunderstood you."

POLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to taste and smell. A recent medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing remedies for persistent coughs and colds and other troubles of the throat.

Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed and the blood attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory for the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for ulcerated sore throats, colds on the brain, the cure of ulcers, etc.

Money refunded, if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

UNION ENLISTS AS A GOOD FELLOW FOR 50 FAMILIES

James Gilboy Braves Flu to Accomplish It.

Good Fellows, this morning THE Tribune's Good Fellow department at South Dearborn street signals the curtain upward to show the folks the mettle of the people who are enlisting in the Good Fellow army and march with it on Christmas eve or Christmas day to battle the enemies of poor children in Chicago.

At 10 A. M. the Good Fellow department offers the recruiting work performed by James Gilboy, business representative of the Technical Engineers, Architects, and Draftsmen's union. Late last week Gilboy notified the Good Fellow department that he and his wife had invited him to their home this year for the poor children of the city. He reported he was busily engaged in making the preliminary arrangements so the draftsmen's union could join the Good Fellow army as a unit.

Braves Flu to Carry On.

On Monday Jim was ordered home to bed with the attack of the flu. Physicians thought the poor old fellow that he had left home to attend a union meeting Tuesday night pneumonia would probably set in and his chances then for recovery would be somewhat hazy. But Jim had a message to carry to the Good Fellow army and to him it was like carrying the message to Garbo.

Jim went to the meeting and yesterday afternoon the draftsmen's union filed an application with THE TRIBUNE'S Good Fellow department for the names of fifty poor families; twenty on the west side, fifteen on the north side and fifteen on the south side. The meeting over, Gilboy was taken to friend's automobile in time to get home at 760 South Sangamon street. Last night he was able to whisper over the phone that the thought of making some poor children happy at Christmas time was banishing the flu.

Just like Gilboy and his associates of the draftsmen's union. The trouble is they seem a trifle slow in joining the 1926 Good Fellow army. Remained Good Fellow at the time of getting short for recruiting purposes and it is up to us to see that this year's Good Fellow army is bigger and more effective than ever. The increase in size of the 1926 army is vastly important, because this year we have more poor children than ever to supply with candy, and money and toys. Those things that make childish hearts happy on the happiest day of the year.

Here's a report of one poor family's conditions that was sent out to a Chicago Good Fellow:

"Sickness and death have come to the M— family with a vengeance. Within one week scarlet fever claimed the father and their youngest child, a boy, aged 2. The mother, aged 29 years old, is left with three other children, 9, 6, and 3 years old. They require a great deal of her time and effort, and she suffers from a partial paralysis and a very painful sinus trouble. During the summer their burden was bad enough, but the coming winter has brought tremendous hardship and suffering, and Mrs. M— has become discouraged and despondent."

This is only one of hundreds of similar reports received daily at the Good Fellow department. Good Fellows, it's time to be up and doing.

3.Ex-Bank Tellers Reported Targets of Grand Jury

Trucks were reported voted by the grand jury yesterday against three former tellers of the South Side Trust and Savings bank. Peter Hein is alleged to have appropriated $30,000 of the bank's money; John F. O'Connell, $15,000; and Ulrich Gennler, $12,000. It is said that they lost the money gambling on horse races. The indictment charges that they conspired to alter the bank's books.

FREAK STORMS VISIT SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA AREA

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Freakish storms, including water-spouts, visited southern California today. At Santa Monica a funnel-shaped cloud picked up columns of water from the ocean about four miles out, while on shore heavy rain punctuated by sharp flashes of lightning fell over the bay district.

Two other water-spouts were reported from the vicinity of Santa Catalina Island, disappearing over the eastern end of Long Beach. Hail fell at various points, including towns in the area between Los Angeles and the harbor district.

While heavy rains were general over the metropolitan area and surrounding towns, snow blanketed the higher elevations. Mountain back of Glendale and Pasadena recently covering ranging from a half inch to two inches thick. A terrific rain was experienced at Fullerton in the orange belt, preceded and followed by snow flurries.

J. C. SPRY LEFT $500,000, BULK FOR DAUGHTERS

John C. Spry lumberman, who died suddenly Nov. 29, left his estate at 1101 Forest avenue, Evanston, left a state of $500,000, according to the will filed yesterday before Frederick W. Elliott, assistant to the probate judge.

The bulk was left in trust for three daughters, Mrs. Etheline Spry Keyes, Oshkosh, Mrs. Gladys Spry Augur, wife of Attorney Josephine Augur, and Mrs. Eleanor Spry Wilson. A bequest of $10,000 was made to a sister, Mrs. Eliza O. Harvey.

Mr. Spry was 69 years old. He was head of the lumber firm of Gardner & Spry.

INDICTS JAMES STEVENSON.
Five burglary indictments were voted by the grand jury yesterday against James Stevenson, 33, charged with breaking into cars and Oak Park homes. The Chicago police recovered about $30,000 loot when they re-arrested Stevenson after his escape in Oak Park.

Mr. Stevenson was 69 years old. He was head of the lumber firm of Gardner & Spry.

Elmer Enjoys Radio Evening for Variety

Hears Brahms and Line o' Type Contribs' Work.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Another excellent musical and feature radio evening.

And here, again, one more word of praise for the Nelson instrumental trio, KYNW, 7 to 8. They were good at the start; they have rapidly grown better, especially in the matter of compositions played. Last evening, the movements from Monkowky's "Suite No. 4" and other selections from the classics. Suggest that all music lovers send them a letter of encouragement.

The combined two hours' program by the three Chicago orchestras from New York, WLIB, 8 to 9, and the Arabian Nights' entertainment, at Chicago, W-G-N, 9 to 10, was orchestral entertainment so thoroughly enjoyable in character that it made one marvel at the wealth of sound musical material. Both programs were light enough to be on the musical card.

But musical minds were put to a real test in two programs last evening.

First, in the historical violin and piano recital by Samuel Dolnick, violinist, and Freda Hiatt-Dolnick, pianist, WMAG, 9 to 9:45; whence one comes each by Brahms and Faure figured.

The second, Johan Lingeman's cello recital, WEBH, 9 to 9:40. Phonetically unspellable composer and code word titles—that the English part of the musical world is well off the beaten path, named by the genius of an inspired cellist. For reasons, don't miss Lingeman's recital next Wednesday evening.

Now, at the New Year Nite, (Right) Henry Guttin's conductor, assisted by stellar contributors to the cause, will bring from New York tonight the entertainers listed below.

Well, it's different; also a bit curious; also a bit nocturne-like, so far best before going to press. Miss Helen Rend, pianist, in her own composition "El Simpatico," a superb tango. The musical part of it was well done, named by the genius of an inspired cellist. For reasons, don't miss Lingeman's recital next Wednesday evening.

LOOP DRUG FIRM FINED ON SMOKE NUISANCE CHARGE

Deposing his inability to sentence the owners of the Buck & Rayner drug store at 2 South State street to inhale the fumes and smoke from their building, the Cook County Board yesterday assessed a fine of $200 and costs against the company.

It was charged at the hearing that the exhaust is only three stories above the street and that the smoke is a constant source of annoyance to workers in surrounding buildings. Five continuances had been won by the company since last June.

Judge Allegretti ruled that, inasmuch as no effort has been made to erect a chimney, he would enter a finding of guilty, but that the court to vacate would be heard if the chimney appears within a reasonable time.

LUNDIN SLATED TO TELL "TRUTH" ABOUT POLITICS

Fred Lundin, who for a dozen years has been known as the power behind the throne, referring to the thrones of William Hale Thompson and Len Small, is being called to speak Saturday on "The Truth About Politicians."

When the announcement was made yesterday of the speech to be delivered before the Swedish Club at 1258 North LaSalle street, political leaders generally admitted that Lundin could do better—reveal the secrets of politics and politicians.

Lundin's speech is delivered at a luncheon given by friends of Dr. Robertson.

City Council Fights Proposed Gasoline Tax

The city council joined officially yesterday in the protest against the proposed tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline provided for in a bill to be presented to the legislature in January. A resolution urging members of the legislature to oppose the bill was unanimously adopted. Ald. George Segeff (35th) introduced the resolution.

LAKE VIEW PREP QUINTET DEFEATS NEW TRIER, 17-11

Medill Downs' Hibbard Heavies, 19-16.

Lake View's hopes of having one of the ranking heavyweight fives in the City High School league soared yesterday when the Red and White majors gave New Trier, Suburban league champions of last year, a 17 to 11 beating at Winnetka. The close guarding of Karp and Pollock held the loss in check while Yates and Johnson piled up points.

In the lightweight game New Trier whipped Lake View, 15 to 10. Heavyweight lineup:

| LAKE VIEW [17] | NEW TRIER [11] |
|-----------------------|-----------------------|
| Yates, r.f. 1 0 1 | W. Paledt, r.f. 0 1 2 |
| Johns, r.f. 1 0 1 | Sheldon, r.f. 0 1 0 |
| Johnson, r.g. 1 0 2 | Copeland, r.g. 0 0 2 |
| Hirschman, r.g. 1 0 2 | Palelt, r.g. 0 0 2 |
| Pollock, r.b. 1 0 1 | |

Provost made his season yesterday by swamping Argo twice at Maywood. The majors won, 27 to 14, while the ponies galloped off with a 12 to 7 victory. Heavyweight lineup:

| PROVOST [27] | ARGO [14] |
|-----------------------|-------------------------|
| W. Paledt, r.f. 1 0 1 | S. Runk, r.f. 1 0 1 |
| Sheld. r.f. 1 0 1 | Nicolas, r.f. 0 1 1 |
| Greer, r.g. 1 0 2 | Malenchuk, r.g. 0 0 4 |
| Hirschm., r.g. 1 0 2 | G. Hirschm., r.g. 0 0 4 |
| Pollock, r.b. 1 0 1 | Palelt, r.b. 0 0 2 |
| Johnson, r.b. 1 0 1 | |

Medill's undefeated heavies rallied in the closing minutes yesterday to defeat Hibbard, 19 to 16, on the Medill floor. A free throw by Starr and then a basket by Johnson gave Medill its winning margin. The lightweights of the two schools battled to a 20 to 20 tie. Heavyweight lineup:

| MEDILL [10] | HIBBARD [16] |
|-----------------------|---------------------|
| Walke, r.f. 1 0 1 | Runk, r.f. 1 0 1 |
| Steinberg, r.f. 1 0 1 | Harris, r.f. 1 0 1 |
| Steinberg, r.g. 1 0 2 | Sheld. r.g. 1 0 1 |
| Starr, r.g. 1 0 2 | Berman, r.g. 0 0 4 |
| Johnson, r.b. 1 0 1 | Widner, r.b. 0 0 2 |

| Levitt, r.b. 1 0 1 | Levitt, r.b. 0 0 2 |
| Capek, r.c. 1 0 0 | |

Playing at the Crane floor, Englewood divided its game with the home quintet. After dropping 20 to 19 lightweight battle, the south side heavies won an easy victory, 33 to 13. Heavyweight lineup:

| ENGLEWOOD [33] | CRANE [13] |
|------------------------|----------------------|
| Levitt, r.f. 1 0 1 | Schwartz, r.f. 1 0 1 |
| Dziubinski, r.f. 1 0 1 | Gerner, r.f. 1 0 1 |
| Levitt, r.g. 1 0 2 | Harris, r.g. 1 0 1 |
| Holzman, r.g. 1 0 1 | Sheld. r.g. 1 0 1 |
| Levitt, r.b. 1 0 1 | Laumann, r.b. 0 1 0 |
| Levitt, r.b. 1 0 1 | Levitt, r.b. 0 0 2 |
| Capek, r.c. 1 0 0 | |

Parker took a pair of games from Quigley, winning the heavyweight contest, 22 to 5, and the pony encounter, 10 to 8. The games were played at the winners' floor. Heavyweight lineup:

| PARKER [22] | QUIGLEY [5] |
|---------------------|--------------------|
| Levitt, r.f. 1 0 1 | Murphy, r.f. 1 0 1 |
| Holzman, r.f. 1 0 1 | Sheld. r.f. 1 0 1 |

STRENGTH TURNS TO MAY WHEAT; CORN MOVES UP

CASH-GRAIN NEWS

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.
December wheat reversed its recent action and declined sharply as compared with the May on commission houses selling, which found support limited. At the end it showed a net loss of 1¢ a bushel at $1.39@1.39¢, or 1¢ under the more deferred delivery, compared with 1¢ over on Tuesday. May was practically unchanged, at $1.40@1.40¢, and July 1¢ higher, at $1.32¢.

Profit taking depressed corn early, but it closed at the top, with net gains of 4¢@4¢, with December at $2.75@2.75¢, May 24¢@24¢, and June 24¢@24¢. Oats showed independent strength and gained 4¢@4¢, with December 24¢@24¢ and May 24¢@24¢. Rye was 1¢ higher, with December 21¢@21¢, and May 21¢@21¢.

There was a noticeable lack of support in December wheat, when houses that frequently act for a local operator started to sell and stop loss orders were unclosed on the way down. At 10 cents below figure, December was off from the finish of the previous day, with buying against bids a factor in checking the break. May ended in sympathy with the nearby month, but held within a range of only like for the day, with a limited trade.

Baileys in Northern Argentina.

The trade paid little attention to news downing the market, but remained in northern Argentina while bringing in a little buying early, went without effect later. A feature of the day was a marked betterment in the export demand for hard winters, with sales of 750,000 bu made at the gulf, where premiums were much as 2¢ higher.

The inquiry for inquiries of round lots from the seaboard. Winnipeg market was strong and 4¢@4¢ higher at the last, while Buenos Aires had a holiday.

Local sentiment was inclined to be somewhat bearish regarding the trend of wheat values, and local wheat has been offered at lower prices for several days. The late strength in coarse grain was a factor in causing the final rally in the deferred deliveries of wheat. Liverpool closed 4¢@4¢ lower, with larger offerings of new crop Argentine for deferred shipment.

Local Buys Corn.

Scattered longs were fair sellers of corn, but the offer was easily absorbed by a new set of bulls and a rally of around 1¢ to the low point was easily attained, the continued small country offerings to arrive being a factor, and more often a slow eastern demand. Weather conditions over the belt remain unfavorable for the movement.

Several leading local operators were aggressive buyers of oats, and, with a little commission house help, advanced prices to a new high. On the present movement, however, there was only on selling orders. Masters and cash demand was reported as somewhat better. The coming government report is expected to show smaller yield than the preliminary returns. Trade in rye was light, with the exception of May, which was reported as sparing export sales, although the seaboard failed to report any grain sold abroad.

Declines in hog prices were checked in mid-season yesterday, after a weak to 20c lower opening, with closing sales $5@10c above opening quotations. Top and average prices were lowest in two weeks at $1.05 and $1.10, respectively, against a top of $1.15 and average of $1.15 the previous Wednesday. Advances in the east swaying outside demand to the local trade, shipments at more than 7,000 being largest since last March for Wednesday and a paramount factor in reversing the trend of prices.

Largest local packers held back at the start in an attempt to duplicate Tuesday's purchases, some big houses remaining out of the market as quotations moved up after the start. However, only 6,000 remained in the pens at the close, the high point of the day.

Market competition for light Christmas beef steers sent the top soaring to $1.35. A new high mark for the year. Fancy 1,144 lb long yearlings filled an eastern order at the top, about 175 head selling at $1.00 and above, although the proportion of total receipts eligible to more than $1.00 were few and cut little figure in the eastern market.

With cattle receipts among the largest in some time for Wednesday, a big share running to medium and weighty steers, trading in cattle weighing 1,200 lbs and heavier continued dull at further advances, with the market holding at its weekly high point. Prime, 1,267 lb averages topped in the heavy class at $1.75, long fed steers of excessive weight bringing as low as $0.90, one lot averaging 1,680 lbs at this price. Butcher stock sold unevenly weak to lower. Bulls and calves were steady. Stockers and feeders improved slowly at previous day's quotations.

Top killing lambs, $1.25.

Past lamb ruled steady to 50c lower, prices showing a 5c break in two days, with fancy killing stock at $1.25, being within 25c of the year's bottom and 60c below last week's top. Bulk of slaughter lambs cleared at $1.00@1.05 lbs, fancy light fall sheep at $1.10@1.15 lbs.

Sheep and aged wethers in small supply shared in the general weakness, the former declining 5¢@10¢ since Monday. Demand for feeding lambs held these firms, choice $6 to Montana bringing $12.50 on account.

DISTRIBUTION OF YULETIDE MELONS GETS UNDER WAY

BY O. A. MATHER.

Christmas melon cutting and extra dividends again appeared in production yesterday, indicating the high degree of prosperity enjoyed in industry and business this year. The list embraced many corporations in widely varied fields and also a number of Chicago banks.

The F. W. Woolworth company, the largest concern in the world operating a chain of 5 and 10 cent stores, led off with a 2½ cent stock dividend on its present outstanding $45,000,000 capital stock, which is divided into 2,000,000 shares of par value. Holders of record Jan. 10 will receive for each two shares one additional share for each two shares. This will cost $23,500,000 of new stock, or 1,300,000 shares, to be issued, making a total of $97,500,000 outstanding out of a total authorized issue of $100,000,000.

No Fractional Shares.

The growth of the Woolworth company has been phenomenal. Its sales were $87,089,271 in 1915, but had risen to $225,946 last year. The company has added fifty-five stores to its chain this year and expects for forty-five more stores to be opened next year.

In paying the stock dividend it was announced no fractional shares will be issued, but stockholders entitled to fractions will be paid the equivalent in cash based on the average price of the old stock over 10 years, less one-third. The present annual dividend rate is 4%.

The Fidelity-Phoenix Fire and Casualty company prepared for a 100 per cent stock dividend when the stockholders increased the capital stock from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 by transferring $5,000,000 from surplus to capital. The stock dividend will be paid Jan. 10 to stockholders of record Dec. 20.

Increase Bank Capital.

The directors of the Drovers Trust and Savings bank, Chicago, voted to increase the capital stock from $250,000 to $300,000 and declare a 40 per cent stock dividend payable Feb. 11 to stockholders of record Jan. 10, subject to approval by the stockholders. They also declared an extra dividend of 2 per cent. The Drovers National bank declared an extra dividend of 2 per cent. The Peoples Trust and Savings bank declared an extra dividend of 2 per cent.

The Chicago Title and Trust company declared an extra dividend of $2 and $10,000 from undivided profits to surplus.

Extra dividends also were announced by corporations as follows: Royal Baking Powder, 2 per cent on stock; Timken Detroit Axle, one-half of 1 per cent on common; American Cyanamid, 10 cents on common "A" and "B"; and Art Metal Construction, 50 cents on common stock.

Investigations also were announced by corporations as follows: Royal Baking Powder, 2 per cent on stock; Timken Detroit Axle, one-half of 1 per cent on common; American Cyanamid, 10 cents on common "A" and "B"; and Art Metal Construction, 50 cents on common stock.

Signs \$95,582 in leases with Tribune Want Ads at sales cost of only $1\frac{1}{10}\%$

W. C. BANNERMAN & COMPANY are builders. They are also advertisers. In August and September of this year they invested $1,088 exclusively in Chicago Tribune Apartment-to-Rent Want Ads. Before September was over their returns amounted to $95,582 in signed leases! "In view of the keen renting competition prevalent in this district," writes President W. C. Bannerman, "we are most gratified with the results accomplished for the expenditures that we have incurred. . . ." The expenditures incurred by the Realty Management Company, Mr. Bannerman's renting agents, amounted to one and one-tenth per cent of the total sales!

The Tribune Want Ad campaign that produced such satisfactory results for the Bannerman company consisted of a series of 61 Want Ads which ran exclusively in The Daily and Sunday Tribune. Every insertion advertised apartments for rent in the new 13-story Belmont Harbor Apartment Building at 426 Belmont Avenue. One 50-line Want Ad appeared every morning during August and one 30-line Want Ad appeared every morning during September. Results

Gentlemen:

We are taking this opportunity to express our appreciation of the prompt co-operation and courtesy that you have shown us in regard to the advertising placed with your paper for the Belmont Harbor Apartments.

During August and September our agents, the Realty Management Company, caused classified advertisements to appear in The Tribune every day. In this period the total amount of leases negotiated amounted to $95,582.00 and the total cost of our advertising amounted to only $1,088.00.

The cost of securing this total gross rental amounts, therefore, to only 1.1%.

In view of the keen renting competition prevalent in this district, we are most gratified with the results accomplished for the expenditures that we have incurred, as indicated above. We might add that the tenants that we have secured through your columns have been of very high type, and very satisfactory.

Yours very truly,

Mr. Bannerman's experience, though remarkable, is by no means unique. His excellent results are much like those of hundreds of others who have followed The Tribune's maxim of "The More You Tell the Quicker You Sell!" Nowhere in the field of business is there a single sales factor so continuously powerful as The Chicago Tribune Want Ad Section. Every day of the year this universal sales agent goes into the homes of millions of people, presents the sales messages of thousands of Want Ad Buyers, and acts as the clearing house for thousands of sales. And remember—there is no method of selling that costs as little as a successful Tribune Want Ad!

Society Applauds
World Premiere of Cadman Opera

BY NANCY R.

For a few minutes last evening down at the Auditorium, it began to look as some one adroitly remarked, as if the horse show had put a crimp in the horseshow. But not for long. By half past eight the world premiers of Charles Wakefield Cadman's "The Witch of Salem" was charming a packed house with its weird music. And at the end of the performance the composer himself won their whole hearted applause as he came out to take curtain call after curtain call. It's small wonder he seemed so pleased with the world—I hear that in the entree any number of the fair ladies in the audience rushed backstage to salute him on both cheeks, in the good old European way.

Just before he made his last bow, he waved his hand over towards Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, who was leaning forward to applaud, apparently quite pleased with the evening's offering. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. William M. Burton, the Harry Pratt Judsons and Edwin Krenn.

A little farther along, on the same side, I noticed Dr. and Mrs. Vernon Herbst and the S. L. Eisendraths with the Julius Rosenwalds, while in the adjoining box Ira Nelson Morris was host to Mr. E. R. Dunham, Miss Mabel Linn, the Chauncey Blairs and Col. Voedovsky.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers were entertaining Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur Post and the Seor Cunningham in their box next door to the horseshow. Up above them the second tier, the Stanley Fields had as their guests Mrs. Howard Gillette, the E. H. Brewsters, Edward Turner and Benedict Conner.

The Charles Edward Browns and the Hampden Winslows were with the Robert McGanns, and nearby Mrs. Bryan Lathrop was hostess to a gay group, including Miss Elsie McCormick, Mrs. Joseph Adams, and those two popular beaux, Billy McClure and Billy McKee. The William V. Kelley's were there, too, with Miss Dorothy Cotton of New York, who is here visiting her son-in-law and daughter, the Phelps Kelleys, in Lake Forest; Marvin Pool and James M. Hopkins, while next door the August A. Carpenters had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bissell and Dr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson.

That most interesting enterprise, the Chicago Salon of Fine Arts, of which Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick is the active president, is beginning to take on a definite form. The list of patrons, containing the names of several dozen influential Chicago women, is lengthening daily; husbands of wives already intrigued by the idea of "bringing together national and international authorities of such subjects as literature, music, drama, choreography being the subjects," are applying for membership. And a week from tomorrow afternoon the patrollers are to meet at the Arts club, to decide on the first offering of the salon.

Society at Horse Show

Second night boxholders at the horse show were content to let the crowds in the regular seats do the cheering until the fourth intermission, when the box circle slowly filled. Not until the sides riders and the hunters and jumpers began their stunts did applauds from the boxes swell the approving chorus.

Since many of the boxholders had taken time off to go to the theater, they had chosen to fill them entirely with guests and not appear in person after the opening, thus adding new enthusiasm nightly. Dress was not a matter for deep concern in any part of the huge circle and varied from street clothes to opera regalia.

The attractive young group of investors, first under the direction of Mrs. H. C. Warner and Mrs. Thomas Gowenock, included Isabel Bevan, Peggy Owen, Katherine Thayer, Georgiana Whitcomb, Anna Crofton, Betty Zach, Marion Dixon, Jane McLennan and Emily Otto.

Among those having box parties were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Chase, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coleman, Thomas W. Hinde, Mr. and Mrs. John Borden, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Willson, Mrs. J. Hamilton Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bendix.

Many women know the value of serving a hot cereal on cool mornings. Now the old menu is more important. But so many people are tired of oatmeal. They need a new flavor—new tempting taste to whip up the appetite.

You can get that new flavor now. New Oata, the first real improvement in fifty years, is a revelation of taste and how different a hot cereal can be.

For New Oata is different! Not only in flavor, but in texture. It is light, fluffy, spongy or gluey like ordinary oatmeal. New Oata is a blend. It combines the natural fiber elements of oats and wheat, including the bran. It is a well-balanced food—healthful for young and old alike.

You can boil it three minutes—and serve. Ask your grocer for Kellogg's New Oata. Made in Battle Creek by the makers of Kellogg's Corn Flakes, Pep and All-Bran.

Get it at any drug or department store simply by saying, "KOTEX." No embarrassment.

In fairness to yourself, try this new way. Costs only a few cents. Twelve in a package.

What Price Evening Glory When Human Figure's Too Ample?

One thing we have to be thankful to our present day corset makers and dressers for is the disappearance of that overhanging basket of fat that used to be prevalent among ladies of a certain weight, and which hung suspended midway between corset top and neck band in the back. In a light evening gown, there is no room for an evening skirt. But the greater girls in the waist line of the modern corseted figure does away with those bulging masses of fat.

Even so, a corset, no matter how cleverly modern, cannot be expected to sette and a life gone dead on its feet so far as exercise is concerned. There are still great wads of fat running loose and ugly around that part of the body the old corset made so doubly prominent.

There's the old lady's hump, right at the base of the neck. Lumps of flesh are perched upon each shoulder blade and a thick ridge of more fat is under the chin.

Some one commented one day on the tragedy of many women who reach the affluent stage of evening gowns and ropes of pearls too late for their figures. That might have applied in an earlier day when reducing was looked upon as a sin. Ideal for the corset, certainly, is this model, with its vestes and boyish collar of shell-pink-chiffon, its black suede belt, and its plaited front. And please notice that the plats on this frock pursue a brand new course of costume for ornate upper sections of skirt that are arranged in points focusing upon minute diamond shaped motifs of self-material in the center.

To the black hats which they are wearing, the felt is distinguished by the use of trimmings of fur which feminine insets of contrasting material are worthy of special note. Leather and grosgrain bands maintain their prestige. So, also, do the feather fancy and the badge brush, while, as to ornaments of crystal and cut steel, their name is legion.

At the first sign of thickness back there one should set to work. If the carriage is faulty, as it usually is where the hump fastens on early, straighten it out. Then one simple exercise has the remarkable power in keeping excess flesh off. Nothing marks a woman as middle aged as much as these dowdery rolls of fat.

If one indulges in table luxuries and ease indiscriminately she is bound to be thick around the parts. After the service I went to kiss my wife, before proceeding down the aisle.

Hearing many chuckles, etc., I woke up to the fact I had kissed the minister. I thought that aisle would never end, and don't think I'm hearing about it yet!

There's an Air of Piquant Charm About This Frock

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Fashion has a big overhead these days. Yes, of course, one refers to high crowns, but one also refers to the expense connected with getting a single trophy among these fests and velvets and velvets. Fortunately for most of us, the black hat and the black coat are both among the elite of fashionable garments. Also the black frock.

We are showing today a new black frock of Canton crepe in one of those models which hover between sports and street in their purpose and which really fulfill every information of our daytime activity. Ideal for the corset, certainly, is this model, with its vestes and boyish collar of shell-pink-chiffon, its black suede belt, and its plaited front. My elderly uncle spent the Thanksgiving week-end with us. He and Edith soon became friends, and as she climbed on his knee uncle patted her curly hair and said fondly, "You're a mighty nice little girl. Can't you give me a kiss?"

Edith gazed at his sideburns and whiskers.

"I can't see much face to kiss," art-lessly returned the three year old.

JAMES SCHRIGLEY RIESSTOMORROW; A PIONEER HERE

Funeral services for James Schrigley, pioneer Chicagoan and civil war veteran, who died of heart disease at the age of 87, at the Plaza hotel, will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in the Chapel at 656 Lee street, Des Plaines. Burial will be in Town of Maine cemetry.

Mr. Schrigley was born in Chicago in 1837. He was the son of John Schrigley, the first sheriff of Cook county, and the builder of an early residence at 1200 N. Dearborn at Lake and Dearborn streets. The older Schrigley's next venture was the opening of the Briggs hotel, which passed into other hands some years later.

After serving in the civil war, Mr. Schrigley came to Chicago and started a lumber business in Maniste, Mich. He also was identified with other industries there. He returned to live in Chicago in 1904.

He was survived by a daughter, Mrs. H. May Palmer, of Maniste, and his second wife, Mrs. Carrie Schrieley.
